THE MAIDEN'S PRAYER

By NICKY SILVER

OUR MISSION

We are a community-minded, independent theatre company. We strive to produce Theatre that explores the relationship between the personal and the political. We believe in the power of ideas, the value of theatre artists, and the potential of an audience fully engaged.

PRODUCTION NOTE

Welcome to tonight's show! It has been a while since our last production, but we are thrilled to be back!! We chose THE MAIDEN'S PRAYER to kick off our new season because the idea of happiness is universal. It is the one thing we desire for its own sake. And more often than not, the things we desire aren't for the sole sake of possessing them, but because we feel they will bring us happiness. Love is definitely one of these things. But what if it is about possession? That it is all in the having. Do the same rules apply when you construct a picture perfect world to live in? Will happiness still follow? In THE MAIDEN'S PRAYER, each character, for better or for worse, wants to be happy. But their happiness often takes a backseat to their desire to possess not just love, but their idea of it.

Thank you for being here! Enjoy the show.
